

A midmorning fire Monday destroyed a garage owned by Ken Michie of Midway. According to Wasatch County Fire Chief Steve Ivie, "The fire was apparently caused by an electrical short in a wire leading into the garage." Estimates of damages were approximately $6,000-8000.

Three fire trucks from the Heber Valley Volunteer Fire Department responded to the call. It then took firefighters approximately two hours to contain the blaze. Thick black smoke could be seen all over the valley from the smoldering embers. The building was a total loss.

Girls from four to twelve attended this year's annual Little Waspette Clinic, June 9 through 13, and demonstrated their newly-learned skills for families and friends on Friday at the Wasatch High Gymnasium. The Waspettes, Wasatch High's Pep Club, have been regional winners for the past six years, and state winners for five. They won last year's national competition in the show drill division with a military routine and took international honors in Tokyo, winning the prop division by doing a mafia drill. Aspiring young Waspettes-to-be could not have had more qualified teachers. A class for each of four age groups was conducted each day during the week, each learning a different dance routine, and all students received "Little Waspette" T-shirts. Their performances on Friday demonstrated the serious dedication, of both students and teachers, before an admiring audience. Kara Lynne Farr, director of the Waspettes, can expect many more years of success in competitions with future Waspettes who have already begun training, even before entering kindergarten.

organized to not only locate the man, but also to warn cabin owners who were in the area. The search began, tensions were high as no one knew what the man's state of mind might be. The cabin owners were notified and the search proceeded from the area where the man was last seen. After some period of time, the search concentrated around an "A" frame cabin in which a window had been broken out. Sheriff's Department personnel, in surrounding the cabin, detected the man concealed under the cabin. He was apprehended without incident and taken into custody. Sheriff Spanos coordinated an effort with Salt Lake to have the man placed in a mental health facility for diagnosis. Sheriff Spanos commended Deputy Martin Combs of his department, Wasatch Mountain State Park, for their quick response and fine police work in bringing a very volatile situation under complete control in a very short period of time.

A man fitting the description had shot his cow approximately thirty times at his West Jordan home. The man then loaded his guns in his truck and drove away. Further investigation revealed that the man had driven to Wasatch County where he pushed the truck off a steep embankment in Guardsman Pass. The man then proceeded on foot in and around the cabin area at Brighton Estates. Sheriff Spanos stated that a cooperative effort between Wasatch and Salt Lake Counties was

Sheriff Mike Spanos reports that a cooperative effort between Wasatch and Salt Lake County Sheriff's Departments and the Wasatch Mountain State Park, resulted in a West Jordan man being found and put in a mental health facility in Salt Lake City. Sheriff Spanos was notified by dispatch that a man carrying three rifles and two handguns in the Guardsman Pass area of Wasatch County had a lot of cabin owners and citizens upset and concerned. Reports from Salt Lake County earlier revealed that
